Austin ISD selects SpawGlass for Anderson High School
Additions and Renovations project

Austin, Texas – During its February 23 meeting, the Austin ISD Board of Trustees selected SpawGlass Contractors, Inc. as the construction manager-at-risk for additions and renovations to Anderson High School (8403 Mesa Drive in Austin).

The project will add 12 new classrooms and four new science classrooms, along with four new tennis courts, fine arts improvements and HVAC repairs and renovations. SpawGlass already has begun providing preconstruction services for the project, which has a construction budget of $11,197,787. The science addition is scheduled for completion in August 2010; all other construction is to be completed by January 2011.

During more than 56 years in business, SpawGlass has established strong relationships with repeat clients by demonstrating a commitment to customer satisfaction and service. SpawGlass previously worked with Austin Independent School District as the construction manager-at-risk for Nan Clayton Elementary School and Cowan Elementary School, and as construction manager for additions and renovations at Porter and Murchison Middle Schools.

“We are pleased to have this opportunity to work again with Austin ISD, and we look forward to expanding and enhancing the Anderson High School campus for students, faculty, parents and community members,” stated Patrick Williams, SpawGlass vice president/Austin regional manager. “We are committed to completing this project safely, on time, within budget and with the highest standards of quality and service.”

SpawGlass, a Texas-based general contractor, construction manager and design/builder, was founded in 1953 by Louis Spaw and Frank Glass with a commitment to client satisfaction and service. Today the company has more than 500 employees statewide and is 100 percent employee owned, with ownership available to all employees. Operating in the Austin area since 1978, SpawGlass has regional offices in Austin, San Antonio, Houston and Harlingen.
