SpawGlass vice president to serve as panelist at LinCP Forum

Austin, Texas – SpawGlass Vice President of Corporate Business Development Joel Stone will serve as a panelist at the first annual Leadership in Capital Projects (LinCP) Forum – Enhancing Excellence in Texas’ Higher Education Capital Projects on February 27 at The Crossings Conference Center in Austin.

The conference, organized by Synergy Builders of Austin, brings together owners/users, contractors and design team members to discuss the challenges involved with higher education capital projects. The intent is to provide a collaborative setting to explore ways to enhance the design and construction process and, ultimately, the projects. SpawGlass is a sponsor of the event.

As a featured panelist, Stone will discuss the issues associated with project schedules. A SpawGlass team member for more than 20 years, Stone has 27 years of construction experience. Before taking over leadership of the business development functions for SpawGlass in 2007, Stone served as the company’s vice president/Austin regional manager for seven years, overseeing all SpawGlass operations in Central Texas. His prior experience includes a variety of operational roles, supervising and managing construction projects.

SpawGlass, a Texas-based general contractor, construction manager and design/builder, was founded in 1953 by Louis Spaw and Frank Glass with a commitment to client satisfaction and service. Today the company has more than 500 employees statewide and is 100 percent employee owned, with ownership available to all employees. SpawGlass has regional offices in Austin, Harlingen, Houston and San Antonio.
